HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. E. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It fastens Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

CLEAR THE DIRT!
HOW?
BY USING STANDARD SOAP CO.'S
WASHING POWDERS.

CAUTION.—OWING TO THE MANY IMITATIONS of this article, persons should be very cautious and purchase none but that branded "Standard Soap Company, of San Francisco," on packages and boxes. The imitations are palmed off by dealers, because of a greater profit to themselves. The great demand for this powder is a sure guarantee of its good qualities for washing purposes. It saves time and labor, and does not injure the finest fabric. Sold by all Grocers. Try Standard Soap Co.'s Detersive Soap. ap21d3m

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 19.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Rogers Green is nominated for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court for Washington Territory.

Internal revenue receipts for the fiscal year to date, $175,613,853. Coin in Treasury to-day, $109,767,595. Coin certificates, $34,0[illegible],000. Currency balance, $21,556,958.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Washington specials say there is considerable opposition among extremists to nomination of Ackerman. It seems he served fifteen months during the rebellion on the staff of General Robert Toombs and had to have his disabilities removed by Congress. His friends admit this, but claim that Gen. Toombs, who was a warm personal friend, thus protected him from conscription, though he knew him to be a Union man. The nomination was referred by the Senate in executive session to the Judiciary Committee.

The Times' special says there is a well settled belief in Administration quarters that there will be a partial reorganization of the Cabinet before the end of the session. The Secretary of State, Secretary of the Navy and Secretary of the Interior are named as members whose resignations are likely to be presented.

Commissioner Delano has ordered that the Tice meter, adopted as a sample meter, shall hereafter be used exclusively in distilleries in place of automatic meters now in use. Each distillery shall be obliged to have but one meter in use, which must be removed and replaced by the Tice meter within 90 days at the expense of the distillery. The order does not apply to exclusive distillers of apples, peaches and grapes.

The Goat Island bill, it is thought, will pass when a reconsideration is had.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Doubts are expressed about the confirmation of Ackerman as Attorney General, but a careful canvass of the Senate indicates there is very little opposition against him.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Washington specials say the working men are urging the Senate to pass the bill to prohibit contracts for servile labor. The recent importation of Chinese shoemakers into Massachusetts is stimulating this action.

A Washington special says news was received there of the death on Saturday, at his home in Alabama, of C. C. Crowe, whose appointment as Secretary of Utah was confirmed on Friday.

The Tribune's dispatch says the Southern Pacific Railroad question comes up in the Senate tomorrow morning, if that body holds to an unanimous agreement it made on Friday. There are two bills, one reported by Howard, and one for which Sherman stands sponsor. Howard's bill names 70 gentlemen as incorporators, and Sherman's 120. Most of them in Howard's are upon Sherman's bill, and the additional 50 in the latter are Fremont and his friends. The general features of the two bills are about alike. The proposed road is from Marshal, Texas, on the 32d parallel to El Paso, and through New Mexico and Arizona to the Pacific coast at San Diego, California. The land grant in Texas comes from the State. The Government grant in California is 20 sections and in Arizona and Mexico 40 sections per mile, all in numbered sections, to be sold to settlers at $2 50 per acre. Howard's bill provides that the whole line must be built of American iron or steel; Sherman's, all of foreign to be used in Texas, where the grant comes from the State. Sherman's insures completion in ten years; Howard's in eleven years. Howard's authorizes the company to issue first mortgage bonds on all its property and rights of property to the extent of $40,000 per mile; Sherman's authorizes land bonds to the extent of $2 50 per acre, and lands mortgaged and construction bonds to the extent of $50,000 per mile on the track and personal property of the company. Both bills give the right of connection, with 20 sections per mile grant from San Diego to San Jose, California; connecting from New Orleans to Marshall with eighteen sections per mile grant, and from Fulton, Ark., to near Dallas, Texas, with nothing but the right of way. Howard's bill calls the main line the Texas Pacific Railroad, while Sherman's names it the Southern Transcontinental Railroad. The point of fight over them is, whether or not Fremont and his friends shall have a hand in the work.

LOUISVILLE, June 19.—Three fatal affrays occurred here yesterday, and one probably fatal today. In two instances yesterday the killing grew out of insults offered to the mothers of young men, who avenged the wrong by killing the offenders.

Illinois Politics

CHICAGO, June 18.—The Democratic County Central Committee at a meeting yesterday, adopted nearly unanimously, the reports of the sub committee against the propriety of making any party nomination for Circuit and Supreme Courts, to be elected next month under the new Constitution.

New York News.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The board of fire underwriters have adopted a resolution recommending the various companies to charge at the rate of fifty cents per hundred additional insurance for the privilege of keeping fireworks on sale, the extra price to be continued for a period not exceeding 30 days. The same charge is also expected to apply to building containing fireworks with contents. The change is suggested for the better protection of insurance companies from loss during the firework season.

Military Intelligence.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—General Canby arrived here yesterday, en route for the Pacific, to take command of the Department of Columbia vice General Crook, relieved.

Dispatches from Fort Hayes, Kansas, and other points, report Indians very numerous between Camp Supply and Bear Creek, all on the war path. Several government and other trains and herds have been attacked, but so far the Indians have been driven off. One train was corralled two days at Gypsum Creek fighting Indians. A train from Camp Supply was attacked four times It is no longer safe for trains or herds to travel without a strong escort.

Boston Dispatch.

BOSTON, June 19.—The House has refused by 90 to 122 to receive the bill providing that no contract for Coolie labor shall be made extending beyond the period of six months. The employment of Chinese in shoe-making at North Adams was the moving cause of the bill, and had created a sensation throughout the State.

Miscellaneous.

CHICAGO, June 19.—A numerously signed call was issued to-day, repudiating the action of the Democratic County Convention in refusing to call a Judicial Convention, and calling a Convention on the 6th inst.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Merrimac, from Rio Janeiro via St. Thomas, brings Aspinwall advices to the 6th. The Henry Chauncy broke her port shaft thirty five minutes after leaving Aspinwall, and returned to port. She would leave under convoy of the Alaska, working one wheel.

A terrible fire broke out at the Aspinwall Hotel and communicated to the Rivettas House, Lamprella's French Bazar, the store of Stainburg & Co., Harburger, Sam Pearce & Co., J. J. Deycazard, and Bermudez and Sewell's private residences. It is now raging in San Juan de Dios street. It has reached the Bank of Panama which is in flames. Attempts are being made to blow up the Cathedral to prevent the spread of flames. The Grand Hotel and roof of the Cathedral are burning in several places. The mail office is in imminent danger. There is terrible excitement and alarm. Later, 11 o'clock A. M. The flames have been subdued. Many casualties and deaths are reported. Twelve persons are believed to be buried in the ruins of the Aspinwall Hotel. A number are injured, more or less seriously. The burnt district comprises the dwellings and stores adjoining the Aspinwall Hotel on Mercedes street, and that hotel and all the buildings on both sides of Jiriodet street from Mercedes to San Juan de Dios, all on both sides of the latter from J[illegible] to the Bank of Panama.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Yesterday was a scorching hot day. The thermometer at 3 P. M. was at 110 in the sun. Street cars were almost stopped owing to the effects of the heat both upon men and horses. An alarming number of sunstrokes have occurred.

Forty of one hundred and fifty Chinamen reached here from Boston yesterday. It is reported they failed to get employment in that city, and what is more significant is that a party of sixty Chinamen was landed here yesterday by the Norwich (Ct.) boat.

Late Aspinwall dates state that many Cubans have reached there, having fled from Spanish cruelty.

There is great anxiety on the Isthmus respecting the location of the ship canal.

CHICAGO, June 19.—The market for wheat here during the past week was remarkably fluctuating. It advanced from opening 20 cents a bushel, and to-day shows a decline from highest price of 7 cents. Many of the smaller speculators have failed and a number of larger ones are reported shaken.

Red Cloud and party left here this morning for their homes via Fort Russell, where horses will be furnished them by the Government.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The announcement that the steamer Henry Chauncey only broke her shaft has greatly relieved apprehensions which within a few days had become painful.

A fire broke out last night at 10 o'clock at the slipper factory of L. D. Aveline, 511 Battery street. It was confined to the shelving, where it kindled. Loss trifling, with heavy insurance. A destructive fire in the building formerly occupied as a Catholic college, one mile south of the Mission of Dolores, occupied by Italian market gardeners, entails the loss of about $5,000. The Italian owners had a large sum of money saved in the building. Much was found melted and run together.

Last night the body of a young man, supposed to be Louis Seligman, was found on a by-path on Burley's ranch, San Mateo county, and taken to Redwood City for an inquest. On the body was found bonds, greenbacks, coin and valuable papers to the amount of about $10,000; also bottles containing drugs, with which, it is supposed, he committed suicide. The gold watch on deceased was still running, which indicates that he has not been long dead.

When the Stevedore's Association was coming back from the picnic at Alameda last night, a row occurred among a lot of wharf rat boys who had become intoxicated, and James Gaughran in attempting to quell it was stabbed in several places by a boy named Conley, who passed the knife to others who finally threw it overboard. Conley was arrested. The worst wound is in the side, entering the abdominal cavity, and it is feared will prove fatal.

Geo. L. Howard, Geo. Brotherton and Louis Brotherton, charged with having forged a check on Hickox and Spear for $14,000, were held to answer in the Police Court to-day; bail, $20,000 in each case, in default of which they were remanded into custody.

Louis Cohn did not appear to prosecute the gambler, Walter Rich, in the Police Court to-day. It is supposed that he has been "seen."

Governor Musgrave, of British Columbia, married Miss Kate Field, daughter of David Dudley Field, of New York, to day at 1 P. M. The ceremony took place at Grace Cathedral, Bishop Kip officiating, assisted by Bishop Garrett. At the entrance of the bride and bridegroom the organ played the wedding march "Le Prophete." The bride was richly dressed in white satin Valenciennes veil, head dress wreathed with orange blossoms. Dudley Field, uncle to the bride, gave her way; Booker acting as groomsman. There were no bridesmaids. The whole affair was conducted very unpretendingly, occupying only five minutes. After the ceremony the happy pair received congratulations, and with Bishop Garrett and a few intimate friends immediately entered their carriage for the Lick House. They spend the honeymoon in the city. Several officers of the Sparrowhawk were present.

It is reported on apparently good authority that negotiations are pending for the control of Main roads including the North Western and Rock Island to Omaha, by the Vanderbilt combination, is nearly completed and a new system to be inaugurated soon. This will materially reduce the number of ticket offices, runners and clerks in San Francisco and effect large savings in expenses of the roads.

Ann Roach, who tried to drown herself and baby from Folsom street wharf, on Sunday, was sent to the Insane Asylum to-day.

The bark Mameluke was lost in Scammon's Lagoon, Lower California, with a cargo of salt for San Francisco, owned by C. J. Jansen, of this city; insured.

Parties have commenced taking up the old Nicolson pavement on Montgomery street, near California, to lay down improved asphaltum block pavement as an experiment instead.

SUMMER WANDERINGS.

DALLES, Oregon, May 20th, 1870.

It is five years, less a few weeks, since I first made a voyage up the Columbia—I should say, perhaps, the Middle Columbia—for the navigation of the river is so divided that the hundred miles which reach from the mouth of the Wallamet to the sea have obtained the distinctive appellation of Lower Columbia; while that stretch beyond the Dalles, following up to the sources of the north fork of this great river, is known as the Upper Columbia. That intervening section, then, from the mouth of the Wallamet to the Dalles, one hundred miles in length, and most interesting of any in scenery, I shall, on my own responsibility, and in ink the color of the haze which mantles its mountain borders, hereupon christen the Middle Columbia. It has been so often described by tourists in the past four years that to recapitulate would be superfluous. I will say only that its mighty azure flood, its attenuating hights and levels of shore, its stupendous walls of solid basalt, its leaping and foaming falls, like skeins of silvery floss blown into filmy veils of mist before they strike their basins, its isolated mountains of rock, and solid mountain ranges, "split deep down the middle" like Mrs. Browning's pomegranate, its lake-like basins in between these mountains, and its wonderful passages through troughs of unseamed rock are there still for the admiration of future ages of civilized men, as they have been for unguessed ages the wonder of the imaginative savage.

The peculiarity of the river's passage though the Cascade mountains, or the Oregon Andes, as they should be called, was accounted for by the Indians after their well known style of personifying natural objects. According to their account of the matter, Mount Hood had a quarrel with Mount Adams, and these two giants threw fire stones at each other, and tore up and shook the earth for a great distance, causing, by their violence, the fall of a natural arch of stone which spanned the river in the heart of the range, thereby choking up its channel and forming the present rapids known as the Cascades of the Columbia.

Putting aside the barbarous poetry of the explanation, the idea which it embodies is most probably the correct one, the proof of it being in the fact that the average depth of the water above the Cascades and extending to the Dalles is forty-seven feet, or twice as great as it is below the Cascades and further, that considerable tracts of fir and other timber are standing upright in the water in such a position as would show that they had grown there and been submerged as they stand, being killed and partly petrified by the water. That the water has been dammed up since it first made its channel seems evident from the slackness of the current at low water between the Cascades and Dalles.

There is a bill before Congress at the present time to devise means and get Government aid, to remove the obstructions to navigation at this point. Could this object be accomplished, the business of the Columbia river would be greatly increased and the expense attending this portion of it lessened. Great as are the perils of the passage, both the Cascades and the Dalles have been passed by several of the O. S. N. Co.'s steamers, under the command of one of their most efficient officers, Capt. Stump. The Cascades have to be navigated at high water, when the fall is lessened by the flood, and the Dalles at low water, when the force of the current is at its minimum.

The Spring has been cool and showery, nor was the day of my passage to the Dalles an exception to the average. Sunshine, mist, and rain, alternated in a manner characteristic of mountain countries, or of the caprice of April days in other climates. Had not the wind been blowing with more than ordinary force and fierceness through the gorge of the Columbia, this coquetry of the elements would have added the charm of variety to the aspect of general grandeur in the scenery. But these mountain mists when dashed in the tourist's face too vigorously, have so much the air of impertinent hydropathy, that one feels like escaping to the more homeopathic institutions of the cabin, even at the expense of a new phase of the continuous panorama of beauty.

The steamer which was to meet us at the Cascades was two hours behind time, owing to the head wind she encountered coming down the stream. Nor did she escape without feeling the force of such waves as can be met with on the Columbia at certain times of the year. One of her bulkheads had been crushed in,—the wave that did it rushing up the starboard gangway just in time to carry on its crest one of the cabin boys who was in the act of descending, and laying him sprawling like a jelly-fish as it spread over and ran off the deck.

I found the city of Dalles looking, if not as busy and prosperous as it did five years ago, fresh and pretty against its background of Spring green. The late showers have been a great advantage to the country east of the mountains; and certainly have added much to the beauty of its appearance, keeping and deepening the green of the hills, and refreshing the cultivated shrubbery and gardens. They were welcomed, too, by the farmers, who are this year trying the experiment of sowing wheat on high lands and hill sides, so far with every prospect of success. Without doubt the amount of agricultural lands in eastern Oregon has been greatly underrated. It is always true of any new country that the first settlers choose the valleys and bottom lands, and those spots where water is most abundant and convenient, to establish themselves. But when the country becomes settled more thickly, these locations cease to hold their pre-eminence in value. Eastern Oregon and Washington are grazing countries by nature, but they will become agricultural to just such an extent as the needs and interests of the population shall require, and without prejudice from the report of their inadaptability.

By the courtesy of some of the citizens of Dalles, I enjoyed some pleasant drives up the valleys of Chenoweth creek, Mill creek, and Three-mile creek. These are all small streams with narrow, fertile bottoms, and arable, though abrupt hillsides bordering them. The farms along these look well, and are largely devoted to fruit raising. Fortunes have been made in the last ten years off some farms in the vicinity of Dalles, their owners commencing as poor men, and performing the labor mostly with their own hands. The money acquired was gained principally by gardening and fruit growing, yet now more attention is being given to grain. Whenever it is proven that this eastern half of Oregon will raise good grain crops, Dalles and other towns which have formerly depended upon the prosperity of the mines, and the business furnished them by the O. S. N. Co., will have a permanent prosperity of their own; and the question is not one of fertility, but of how much moisture is absolutely necessary to make the soil produce, for Eastern Oregon is a very dry country. That it is eminently a grazing country the condition of the cattle satisfactorily shows. Never have I seen fatter, sleeker looking stock than roams the hills in the vicinity of this place. And the fact is all the more apparent in contrast to the lean and rough appearance of the cattle that have gone through with the long cold rains of a winter in western Oregon.

When I first saw this town, five years ago, it was just such a place as one may see in any of those high, dry and windy countries, where miners congregate—that is to say, it was hastily and poorly built of boards, with the usual single fire-proof building belonging to Wells, Fargo & Co. The streets were thronged with rough looking men; every bit of ground was bare and dusty; there was no shade anywhere, but the bare earth and rocks seemed to radiate heat that was insufferable. Now there is a general appearance of order and cosy comfort; trees are already grown large enough to shade the sidewalks; flowers and ornamental shrubbery are seen in every street. After beholding this metropolis, I am willing to assert that there is no desert on this Pacific coast which may not be made to "blossom as the rose." In five years more the Dalles will be embowered in shrubbery, and its hillsides will be covered with vineyards and fruit trees.

The very finest view of Mount Hood which I have seen yet, is from a point about two miles from Dalles, in the valley of Mill creek. It has a grander, more solid and real appearance than from those other points from which it has been pictured; and the foreground of mountains also are so real in their nearness, that the mind grasps the idea of greatness much more forcibly than from a distant view. The same is true of Mount Adams, seen from this elevated ravine the sides of it, perhaps, condensing the view as does the roll of paper through which we look at pictures in a gallery. Taken together—these magnificent mountains, glistening white, over the dark and fir-clad range, the sloping hillsides, dotted with pines, the pretty, narrow valley, divided into thrifty looking farms, the clear, pure bracing air around, and lovely blue sky over us—these are such combinations as cannot fail to impress the mind and sense of a "summer wanderer" most delightfully.

I was disappointed at not finding Mr. Condon, the enthusiastic geologist, at home. I had before had the opportunity of looking through his "Second Book of Genesis," as he calls his collection of fossils, but it is so extensive a volume that it bears a great many readings, and besides, it is a real pleasure to meet with a man whose soul is so evidently in his work. Mr. Condon is the pastor of the Congregational church in Dalles, and labors zealously for the good of his people; nevertheless he finds time to devote to the collection and study of geological, mineralogical and paleontological specimens. From the contents of his cabinet, it is evident that the northwest coast is rich in the remains of extinct species of animals, together with numerous indications of the ocean life which once existed where now are elevated mountain peaks. Mr. C.'s lectures, aided by a valuable set of charts, with which he illustrates them, have done much toward developing a scientific taste in the young people of Dalles, as well as much toward instructing and entertaining "children of a larger growth."

There is considerable cultivation and taste for intellectual pursuits among the Dalles people; at all events, this is true of the families I was so fortunate as to meet there, and I should say that the tone of society was generally good. From a lecture delivered here last winter by Dr. McKay—a descendant of that McKay who perished on the Tonquin, as related in Irving's "Astoria"—and who is more conversant with Indian languages and ideas than any man in Oregon—I was able to obtain the Indian names of many places about the Dalles, together with their signification. The place where the town now stands was called by the Wascos, a band of the Des Chutes Indians, Winquatt, signifying that it was surrounded by bald rocky cliffs.

The name of Wascos was given to this division of the Des Chutes—so runs the Indian legend—in the following manner: The Indians being collected at the fishery, a favorite spot for taking salmon, about three miles from Winquat, one of them was so unlucky as to lose his squaw, the mother of his children, one of whom was yet only a babe. This babe would not be comforted, and the other children being young, were clamorous for their mother. In this trying position, with these wailing little ones on his awkward masculine hands, the father was compelled to give up fishing and betake himself to amusing his babies. Many expedients having failed, he at length found that they were diverted by seeing him pick cavities in the rocks in the form of basins, which they could fill with water or pebbles, and accordingly, as many a patient mother does every day, adapted himself to the taste and capacities of his children, and made any number of basins they required. Wasco being the name of a kind of horn basin which is in use among the Des Chutes, his associates gave the name to this devoted father in ridicule of his domestic qualities; and afterward, when he had resolved to found a village at Winquat, and drew many of his people after him, they continued to call them all Wascos, or basins. To-day the tribe is little known, but the county of which Dalles is the metropolis bears the name once given in derision to a poor perplexed father for descending to the office of basin maker for his children.

"Alone in its beauty," is the signification of the name of a fine spring of water on Mr. Logan's place near the Dalles, and "the mountain that tells of the sun's travel," of a high point in the same neighborhood. So much for native imagery.

TUESDAY MORNING JUNE 21 1870

Democratic Senatorial Aspirants

Their name is legion. They are heard of in all parts of the State. The success of their party and with it a realization that they actually have a Senator to elect has warmed torpid politicians into activity, reanimated political fossils of a past age and caused those sheeted dead who were expected to be disturbed again to [illegible] forth from their graves to speak and gibber in every quarter of Oregon

Just now many of the disentombed are in a condition of painful anxiety over the uncertainties of the situation. Already they are jostling each other rudely in the general strife to see who shall get foremost. Col Kelly's friends claim that he is entitled to the place by reason of his having stood up for the party during the dark days when there was so much of the odium of secession attaching to it that such men as Smith, Grover, Chadwick, Harding, Nesmith and others either hid themselves or came out openly with the Republicans. On the other hand Kelly is opposed by certain ones pretendedly on the ground of his having planted himself squarely on the doctrine of repudiation in his speech in this city at the opening of the late campaign. Personally Col Kelly is very estimable but he will hardly be Senator. He is one of those men who are proverbially out of luck. Mr Stout is also an aspirant. He was too adroit to mount the hobby of repudiation and ride at breakneck speed as some others did. This circumstance is being used in his favor by some of the party managers,—chiefly by himself, but it will not have much effect with his party as they are decidedly for repudiation. Mr Nesmith hopes that some lucky circumstance may send him back to the Senate and probably Mr Harding also has similar longings. Mr Congressman Smith is understood to be making great pretensions for the position and without doubt will have a good deal of strength for it. Mr Grover is also talked of in certain circles as a probable candidate. It would seem that the Salem managers are likely to have the ascendency in the Legislature, as the fight was made in accordance with their plans, and all the success that was achieved was achieved by their efforts. Those politicians belonging to the party who have their headquarters in this city carried few or none of their points in the election. They lost this county, and also Clackamas and Yamhill which they had taken it upon themselves to carry. The victory seems therefore to be a Salem victory and the Portland leaders are entitled to but little share in it.

We cannot pretend to give anything like a complete list of the aspirants. Such a list would take up almost as much space as the catalogue of ships and forces in the Iliad. But we should not do anything like justice to the subject did we omit the names of Gen Lane, Judge Strong and Gov Curry. It will be seen that among the names mentioned there are none belonging east of the mountains. That section of the State may present something like a dozen candidates before all is done

Railroads and Depots.

The Herald has new proof of the hostility of Mr Holladay to the interests of Portland. It has learned that "this energetic and ambitious enemy" of the city has actually purchased two hundred and fifty acres of land on the opposite side of the river, and it sees in this purchase a new move in the game to "make a rat-hole of Portland." Now isn't it a terrible outrage when a man can come from abroad and purchase two hundred and fifty acres of land where somebody don't want him to? What is the country coming to when a "foreigner" can come in and invest his money in this way? But we reckon that this purchase and a dozen more like it won't break Portland down. If a railroad terminus should never come nearer than East Portland, this city would be quite as well off. We believe that the city of New York is not made a "rat-hole" by the terminus of railroads at Jersey City, nor the city of San Francisco converted into an abode for owls by the termination of the great overland railroad at Oakland. But, as a matter of fact, the east side road will have its terminus here. A ferry will carry cars to and fro across the river the same as at many other places similarly situated. Probably when the west side road is built its terminus will be no nearer the main part of the city than East Portland is. If it is much nearer than that it will certainly be greatly in the way. It would be encouraging if people would get rid of their narrow ideas about these matters and see the situation here as it exists elsewhere. Some talk as if the city of Portland were comprised within a radius of a few blocks from First and Stark streets and as if a railroad depot must be established within that radius or the city is ruined for ever

The City Election

The city election which took place yesterday did not elicit much attention till late in the afternoon when the Democrats made a rush to elect the Councilmen in the First and Second Wards. Very little interest was manifested by the Republicans and as a consequence the Democrats elected Mr Hallock in the First Ward by a small majority and made the contest in the Second Ward uncomfortably close, but Mr Congle (Rep) was elected. In the Third Ward Messrs Besser and Hill (Republicans) were elected without opposition. Only a partial vote was polled. The result of the day's work was that the Republicans elected three Councilmen and the Democrats one. The new Council will stand seven Republicans to two Democrats, a gain of one for the Republicans. Some of the Democrats last evening seemed disposed to crow over the result. Those gentlemen are certainly of a cheerful disposition when they can rejoice over the loss of a member of the Council and the reduction of their strength in that body to two members

The Democratic majority in the Legislature, as the same now appears after they have fixed up the returns in Wasco and some of the other counties is thirteen on joint ballot, four in the Senate and nine in the House. The Republicans have one Senator in Multnomah, one in Clackamas, one in Washington, one in Yamhill, two in Marion, one in Benton, and two in Douglas, Coos and Curry,—nine in all. They have one Representative in Clatsop and Columbia, four in Multnomah, three in Clackamas, two in Washington, two in Yamhill, five in Marion and two in Benton,—nineteen,—making twenty-eight on joint ballot. On joint ballot the Democrats have forty-one

The vote of Ada county (Boise City) in the late election was 513 Democratic and 339 Republican. This is a considerable reduction as compared with the vote in former elections.

Public Lands and the West.

A writer in the New York Times gives some very plain and clear statements regarding the public lands and the policy of grants for railroads. All the public lands granted and all asked for railroads do not [illegible] part of the public domain. [illegible] this writer puts his illustration of the subject in this way: "The case of the Government in relation to the public domain is precisely that of a farmer who, with a large farm but far from market, is told that [illegible] thirty he [illegible] for a market [illegible] the whole question"

The fierce opposition which the grant for the Northern Pacific recently encountered in Congress grew out of the mistaken idea that lands remotely situated and possessing no railroad advantages could be valuable for homes. The lands in the route of the Northern Pacific will not be occupied unless there is promise of railroad communication. The idea then of reserving the lands exclusively for settlers when in fact the settlers will not go there unless the railroad can be had is little better than visionary

In a national view it is quite impossible to form even an approximate opinion of the vast influence which the construction of the several railways from the Atlantic to the Pacific is to exercise upon the political and material future of the Republic. By the year Nineteen Hundred America will contain one hundred millions of republican people and will offer the most perfect and splendid instance of compact national unity on the globe

Gen Sherman's Letter

Gen Sherman's letter to the Indian peace convention in New York deserves to be reproduced in full for preservation. It is short but just to the point:

Edward Cromwell, Secretary, No 143 Broad Street, N Y

DEAR SIR: I have your note of May 13 and regret I cannot attend the meeting of the Indian peace commission at New York. I doubt not the generous feeling of the good people interested in this meeting but it does seem to me that they accomplish little or no good. The Indian question is a practical one and not one of mere feeling, and so far as my observation extends the wild Indians are rather damaged than benefited by the conflict of extreme opinions which these public meetings engender. The real question can only be discussed fairly where the Indians are, and if you will adjourn your meeting to Fort Sully, Fort Rice, or Fort Fetterman where you can see the Indians themselves I will feel strongly inclined to attend the adjourned meeting. With sentiments of the utmost respect, I am truly yours

W T SHERMAN General

The New York Tribune and Post both pounce upon Sherman and exhort the President not to let Sherman thwart his Indian peace policy. They meanly insinuate that Sherman and Sheridan want an Indian war, for the benefit of Indian agents and contractors, and they absurdly give the peace commission the credit of preventing a general Indian war this season. The truth is that the Indians do not want a general war any more than the government or the army officers, but what the Indians do want is to be allowed to continue their plundering and murdering raids to be followed by more treaties and new presents occasionally. And this they will do if the peace commission can persuade the government to prohibit the army from following up and punishing the marauders. The policy of the peace commission is in effect a policy of perpetual war with the killing all on one side, and if it is sustained the recent frightful massacres will be indefinitely repeated

CURRENT NOTES

Letters from Denmark state that there is much unfriendly feeling among the people at the failure of our State Department to act in some way on the St Thomas treaty

A Washington special says Gen Rosecrans hardly deems it necessary to dignify with denial the sensation story that he is about to lead a filibustering expedition into Mexico. He does not know of the existence of such a scheme

The Chicago Post says "The Fenians have bravely compensated for the tracks they tore up in Canada the other day inasmuch as they have been 'making tracks' ever since. In tearing them up they were simply instigated by a determination to sever the ties existing between this country and Canada"

Ethan Allen's short treatise on the "Immortality of the Soul" has recently been exhumed from the family archives and placed in the hands of Mr George F Houghton of St Albans, President of the Vermont Historical Society, who is now at the Irving Hotel, New York, preparing for its publication in the Historical Magazine

Bloomington, Illinois, is excited over the finding of the following note picked up in the street, and Mr. C is looked for with interest: "Dearest C —Your boots are inside the garden fence at the southeast corner under a piece of old carpet. Don't come any more for Heaven's sake. The old man swears he'll blow the top of your head off. Your affectionate B"

John W Forney, writing to the editor of the Germantown (Pa) Telegraph, says "I recollect that the veteran Thurlow Weed once told me he could conceive no more tranquil closing of a boisterous career than the publication of an independent weekly newspaper among an independent agricultural people. He anticipated it as a rest from toil, as a last harbor in which to review the storms of the past and to prepare for the responsibilities of the future"

The somewhat surprising announcement is made that Mr Alfred Tennyson has volunteered to take part in the observations of the next great eclipse and will join the expedition which leaves England for that purpose in December next. The Poet Laureate has long confined his reading mainly to the revelations of modern science and takes an intense interest in such matters, but it is not to be inferred that he intends to study the corona or the weird aspect of the world under a total eclipse as material for future poetic uses

An irreverent Athens correspondent speaking of the new railroad from that city to [illegible] says "Think of Socrates [illegible] for a steam engine, Diogenes with his tub dead heading it to the [illegible], or haggling about a seven cent ticket, of Euripides working up a railroad catastrophe [illegible] of the country, [illegible] taking telegraph [illegible] notes for his [illegible] from the window of a sleeping car, or of Alcibiades lying in the smoking car and playing a game of high low jack for the cigars"

The telegraph advises us of the death of William Gilmore Simms, the novelist and poet, whose books have [illegible] degree of popularity especially in the southern States. He was aged 64 years having been born in Charleston S C in 1806. He was educated for the bar which he relinquished early in life for the editorial profession. Mr Simms was the author of a History of South Carolina and other productions of more or less merit which added to his many romances and poems, made him an author of much industry

The capitals of Connecticut will not be consolidated this year. The House of Representatives has refused to submit the question to the people and the correction of one political anomaly must be postponed for a year at least. The project which took the form of a constitutional amendment was sacrificed to sectional jealousies. The vote shows clearly the influences that will oppose and for some time defeat any attempt to fix upon one of the existing capitals of the State as the single political centre. Hartford was named in the defeated amendment for the consolidated capital. Consequently, on the call of the yeas and nays, New Haven county went solid against the proposition while Hartford county was nearly as unanimous in favor of it.

THE WEST.

The Bainbridge [illegible] bridge, San Diego county, California, is eighty feet wide

The body of John McGinnis, mail carrier, who was lost at the mouth of Redwood creek, Humboldt county, on the 31 has been recovered together with the mail

The beet sugar mill now in course of erection near San Lorenzo, Alameda county (Cal), has a capital stock of $[illegible]000. The cost of the mill will be about $[illegible]5,500 and it can use fifty tons of beets per day

The waiter girls of the hotels at [illegible] having refused to serve Spotted [illegible], White Bear, Green Oak and Yellow Hair when those dusky warriors went to the table the other day, and the bar tender was ignobly pressed into their service

The Western World is the name of a new paper to be issued from the Alta California office for circulation in Australia, New Zealand and the [illegible]. It will contain [illegible] items of English, European and American news of much value to the residents of the countries alluded to

The San Francisco Alta says of the workmen who paraded Montgomery street in kid gloves and donned old suits of clothes when the land [illegible] be bamboozled that they worked to defeat the railroad subsidy in a very [illegible] they expected that somebody would be fool enough to buy them off. Disappointed they went in for revenge

It seems that Democrats in some parts of Nevada are deadly opposed to permitting their colored fellow citizens the privilege of celebrating the nation's birthday with them. After voting for a colored man for Mayor in Virginia City and generally fraternizing with the newly made citizens it seems strange that the harmony of such a patriotic day should be disturbed by these wiseacres

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 13th has this: McAfee, Spear & Co, boiler makers on Howard street near Beale, are engaged in making a steamboat boiler for the Farmers and Mechanics Steam Navigation Company at Roseburg, Umpqua river, Oregon. The boiler is 16 feet long, 56 inches in diameter, contains 120 two and a half inch tubes, and is supplied with a deep fire box for the burning of wood

The Stockton (Cal) Independent of the 17th inst, says: On Saturday last, the death warrant of Philip Dick who has been four times tried for his life on the same charge and has been confined in the county jail for more than four years was signed. The warrant commands the Sheriff to take Dick between the hours of 12 o'clock M and 2 o'clock P M on the 8th day of July 1870 and hang him by the neck until he is dead

A despatch from Gunnison, Utah, June 10 gives this: William Brown, Deputy Sheriff from Weber county, has just arrived here. He left Ogden June 4th with a writ to arrest Peter Smith who had stolen a span of mules belonging to C W Thornton of Ogden. He succeeded in arresting Smith at Marysville near the Sevier mines on Wednesday. Smith resisted but was finally taken and secured without injury. The Deputy Sheriff started with him to Ogden. The next morning on arriving at Glenwood, a vacated settlement of Sevier county, the Sheriff placed a gun by a stone wall and told Thornton to guard the prisoner while he should get handcuffs for him. While doing so, Smith grasped the Sheriff's gun and attempted to shoot Thornton but found it was unloaded as the Sheriff had taken the cartridge from the gun previous to leaving it. Smith then grasped the muzzle of the gun and struck at Thornton; as he did so he brought himself in front of the Sheriff, who shot him through the forehead. Thornton also fired, the bullet taking effect in his left breast. A jury was summoned from among the campers near by, and an inquest held; the body was buried there.

A Fiend in Human Shape

We learn the particulars of a savage and brutal affair which occurred at Medoc, a small town in Jasper county, Missouri, from a correspondent of the Kansas City Journal. The man's name who perpetrated the foul deed is A D Taylor. He was taken from the custody of the Constable by the citizens of Medoc and hung. The following are the facts as stated by this correspondent:

For some months past, Taylor has been almost daily in the habit of whipping and otherwise abusing his wife (who is said to be a most estimable lady). His abuse of his wife has been growing more and more aggravated and severe until Friday night last, when it seems he turned a fiend and began to abuse her in a most outrageous manner—first by kicking and cuffing, then he struck her to the floor and stamped her with his heels

After punishing her in this way until he was tired, he took a butcher knife and cut her hair short. Still growing more and more devilish he broke a gridiron to shivers over her head. Then with a knife he began to torture her by hacking her in the face and on the breast, until he had literally cut her breast and face into slices, and to make the torture more severe, stabbed her in different parts of the body with an old pair of scissors. He determined to kill her by degrees. During all this time he kept up his kicking, cuffing and stamping, and by the time his fury had abated he had inflicted such horrible wounds that life was almost extinct.

Several of the citizens hearing the cries of the women were attracted to the place. On finding that they had discovered what he had been doing, and fearing that they would take measures to punish him, he fled to the woods near by and kept himself concealed until Sunday morning, when he called at Robert Wallace's farm house and asked for some breakfast. Wallace having heard what had occurred on Friday night, and knowing that there was a writ in the hands of the Constable for his arrest, took it upon himself to arrest him and took him to town and delivered him into the hands of the Constable

The citizens in the meantime hearing of the outrage and of the critical condition of his wife became more and more enraged, and by evening began to show signs of violence. About half past nine the Constable decided to move the prisoner to Justice Anderson's house some two miles distant for safe keeping and for trial on the morrow. After having gone about a mile with the prisoner a posse of about thirty armed men came up, took Taylor and hanged him to a tree where he remained until this afternoon. He was then taken down and brought to town. When I saw his body it was lying in his own office. His wife, all cut and bruised from head to foot, was still alive on Monday. It is probable that she will not recover

A D Taylor was a man of education, was by profession a physician, and is said to have been a very successful practitioner. He was about forty years of age. A few years since he quit his profession and went to preaching, in which capacity he was very successful, being a fine speaker. During his ministerial labors he was connected with the Christian Church. When the war broke out he received an appointment as surgeon in the United States army, which position he held until the war closed. Since that time he has been practicing his profession. On inquiring what could have induced him to abuse his wife in such a horrible manner I was told that there was nothing [illegible] his [illegible] nature. It is doubtless the best policy in most cases to punish crime by law, but who will say that any man ought to be allowed to live one hour after torturing his wife (whom he had voluntarily sworn to protect) as this man did?

THE CITY OF BOSTON [illegible] BY HER OWNERS.—The New York Herald of June 21 says:

The sad fate of the steamer City of Boston, which left this port on the 2[illegible]th January last, need no longer be guessed. Everybody can remember that the vessel left this port on the date above mentioned. She had on board at the time a general cargo consisting of cotton, oilcake, flour, beef, bacon, lard, hops, tallow, wheat and copper ore, weighing altogether 890 tons, and had also on board 9[illegible] tons of coal for her own consumption. She arrived at Halifax on the [illegible]th of January and then took on board the mails, a small quantity of cargo, consisting of extra baggage of passengers and packages shipped by the naval storekeeper, which made about 2[illegible] tons extra freight. The total weight the ship had on board when leaving Halifax was: Machinery [illegible] tons, cargo 916 tons, coal 787 tons, making a total of 2,[illegible]87 tons. The above mentioned facts are stated together with other particulars in a communication made by William Inman of the Inman line of steamers to the Secretary of the Marine Department of the Board of Trade in London

He says: "The company's steamer Etna, with the outward mails for Halifax, arrived at that port on the 25th of January and reported clear weather and no ice visible on the northern track. I think that Captain Halcrow upon this report took the northern track. By all accounts the ice broke suddenly this year, and I can only come to the conclusion that the vessel foundered in consequence of getting among it. My company's steamer City of Antwerp, which left New York the day after the City of Boston left Halifax, was aware of ice to the northward, although it was not seen." Mr Inman claims that his views of the case appear to be the more probable from the fact that no portion of the wreck has ever been picked up

Now, then permit me as a citizen of this sunset State of Oregon, we welcome every industrious, honest immigrant from the North, South East or West, whether he be high or low, rich or poor, white or black, all the "sons of sorrow and [illegible] of distress" as well as the million [illegible] then are the happy advent of a million [illegible] of such strong arms, stout hearts, and [illegible] persons and purses will Oregon soon [illegible] into line and lead off this whole sisterhood [illegible] as God and nature designed she should [illegible] course of human events

O S PHELPS

ESCAPE OF PRISONERS FROM THE COUNTY JAIL. —Three prisoners confined in the county jail under indictment for larceny—Thomas Trainor, Chas Engles and A Falk—made their escape about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. They evidently had assistance from the outside, as the lock of the cell in which they had been confined [illegible] Mr Ward, the jailor, passed [illegible] about 12, finding everything [illegible] all right, and again at 3 o'clock. As [illegible] one of the cells he heard loud and excited whispering, and upon arriving at the door to the prisoners' hall he saw a prisoner named Spencer standing at the door of the cell in which the whispering was going on. Mr Ward passed in and secured Spencer and found at once that the three men above mentioned were gone. After locking up Spencer and securing the door of [illegible]—the lock of which he found cut—he [illegible] that the lock bar to the door leading from the prisoners' ward to the main hall had been sawed off, and that the men after getting into the hall had made a hole through the wall and through that had escaped. Mr Ward at once alarmed the police and search was at once begun, but the men had got start enough to elude pursuit. We heard last night that a trace to them had been discovered but could learn no particulars. A reward is offered for their apprehension

THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION. — The election yesterday did not create much excitement and the vote polled was quite light compared with that of the general election two weeks ago. The following is the result:

1st Ward—Whole number of votes 370. A B Hallock, Dem, received 2[illegible]. E M Burton, Rep, 229; Hallock's majority 42

2d Ward—Whole vote 4[illegible]. J B Congle, Rep, received 2[illegible] [illegible] 236. Congle's majority 2

3d Ward—Only one ticket run. The only contest was between Besser and Hill for long and short terms. Besser was nominated for the long term and Hill for the short, but by some mistake or misunderstanding [illegible] were printed so as to make a cross fire. A considerable number of men also voted for but one. Whole vote 146. For long term L Besser [illegible] Hill 53. For short term W Hill [illegible] Besser 13

The Council now stands: Republicans 7, Democrats 2

[illegible]—A pleasing little incident occur[illegible] the Cascade yesterday. It seems that the [illegible] who robbed the Vancouver Post Office [illegible] certain cash and valuables, was rec[illegible] day as a passenger on the Cascade, [illegible] and an officer was sent to arrest him, [illegible] discharge of this duty, he found [illegible] in shackles, en route to Salem for a [illegible] years, on conviction for a crime com[illegible] in Wasco county, being then in custody of [illegible] of Wasco. He will be taken up the [illegible] morning.

[illegible] OFFERED.—Sheriff Zieber offers a re[illegible] hundred dollars for the arrest and [illegible] of the prisoners, Trainor, Engall and [illegible] escaped from the jail yesterday morn[illegible] One hundred dollars will be given for the [illegible] delivery of each one of them. See ad[illegible] for the description of the men.

[illegible] LIVING WONDERS."—Great crowds visit [illegible] Hall every afternoon and evening to see [illegible] the dwarf Major and the beautiful [illegible] girl. These wonderful people will re[illegible] only for one day more.

[illegible] VISIT.—Mr. L. P. W. Quimby, [illegible] elect for this county, with his [illegible] will leave by the steamer this evening for [illegible] the Eastern States. He will return [illegible] the first of September.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—Monday, June 20th:

State of Oregon vs. Dennis Murphy; assault with a dangerous weapon; order for default and forfeiture of bond heretofore entered set aside, and defendant allowed till to-morrow to plead.

Elizabeth Taylor vs. Wm. Taylor; suit for divorce, divorce granted and plaintiff allowed $500 alimony.

Ladd & Tilton vs. W. W. Chapman; demurrer to complaint withdrawn and defendant given till Wednesday to file answer.

Jacob Kamm vs J. B. Harker; demurrer to answer of defendant overruled and plaintiff given till Wednesday to file reply to answer.

Ben Holladay and C. Temple Emmett vs. S. G. Elliott, J. B. Rodgers, et. al.; separate answer of J. B. Rodgers ordered stricken out, and plaintiff given till Tuesday morning to file reply to the answer.

Fred Norman vs. Pierre Manriette; motion to transfer the cause to the U. S. Circuit Court, taken under advisement.

Ben Holladay and C. Temple Emmett vs. S. G. Elliott, T. R. Brooks, Gardner Elliott and J. B. Rodgers; default of T. R. Brooks and Gardner Elliott, entered.

Court adjourned till 9 A. M. Tuesday.

DEN FINO THEATER.—"Colleen Bawn" was very well produced last evening with Miss Lizzie Ingles as Eily O'Connor, Miss Annie Pixley as Anne Chute, Mr. Bates, Miles na Coppaleen, Mr. Vinson, Danny Mann, and other characters by the company. Miss Ingles' appearance was her first in this city. She is a young lady of rather good looks, sings rather sweetly, and in the character of the Colleen gave now and then indications of histrionic talent, but upon the whole we cannot pronounce her first personation very successful. Perhaps we may have occasion to reform our judgment when we shall have seen more of her, as it was evident that she did not, last night, feel at all at ease in her position. Of the personations of the others we have only to say they were from passable to good and from good to excellent. Bates was first rate in most portions of Miles na Coppaleen; Vinson was quite as good a Danny Mann as the original, and Melville gave an excellent personation of old Corrigan. Miss Annie Pixley did not appear to so good advantage in Ann Chute as in some of her favorite characters, but she did it creditably. Miss Minnie did Old Sheelah Mann in very good style.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF PORTLAND.—Mr. P. F. Castleman has about ready for sale and delivery a number of lithographed bird's eye views of the city of Portland. The picture is taken from a point supposed to be directly over the ferry landing at East Portland, and shows the front of the city and in fact its whole extent very accurately. All the public buildings and notable points of the city are easily identified. The picture is the best one taken of the city for many years.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE 4TH OF JULY.—At the adjourned meeting at the Council Chamber last evening, Mr. C. Bills was called to the chair and E. D. Backenstos was elected Secretary.

On motion, a committee of five, consisting of O. B. Gibson, C. S. Silver, Chas. Hodge and W. S. Caldwell, was appointed to draft a plan of arrangements and report to a meeting this evening. Adjourned to meet at Council Chamber this evening at 8 o'clock P. M.

STILL DETAINED.—Capt. Simpson, of the bark Whistler, reports the Hattie C Besse and the Live Yankee still at Astoria when he left on Sunday. The weather outside has been and still is unusually rough. Capt. Simpson says he never had so rough a trip, winter or summer, between San Francisco and Portland.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—The Beth Israel school, under the charge of Miss H. R. Phillips, will have regular quarterly examination, commencing on Wednesday at 9 A. M. and continuing through Thursday, on which term will close. Patrons and all others interested are invited to attend.

THE RIVER.—Dispatches to the Commercial yesterday, represent the Columbia river as falling. At Wallula, the decline was three inches. Dispatches from Umatilla and Dalles speak of the river as falling, at the former place, rapidly.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN WASHINGTON TERRITORY.—The Olympia Transcript says: "Eight women voted at Miami precinct and seven at Grand Mound. Three offered their ballots at Olympia precinct, but were refused by the judges."

U. S. COURTS.—The U. S. District Court convened yesterday morning, but adjourned without transacting any business. The U. S. Circuit Court, Judge Deady presiding, will convene this morning.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S SKETCH OF THE NEW ENGLAND FARMER.—You must conjure up a race of well-to-do, hardy and hard-working, independent, intelligent, and, in their way, proud yeomen, who think themselves fully as good "as anybody," and yet who toil side by side with their "hired help;" who sit at the table with their Irish "hands," and who are as keen at a bargain and as "cute" in disposing of their harvest as any farmers in the world. Every one of them has been "raised," as they say, at the free common school of his native village. If you will go half a mile out on the main road, you will not fail to see, playing lustily about the little red school house, the rising generation of farmers, who will in time take the place of the now middle-aged husbandmen in the fields. So every man has duly had his "eddication," which is, to tell the truth, a far more substantial one than his rather eccentric Yankee dialect would lead you to infer. His newspaper comes as regular as the big, old-fashioned stage-coach, from the nearest town; and in the evening, by the great wood fire in that room which, in New England farm-houses, serves at once as kitchen, dining room, sitting room and sewing-room—or, if it be Summer, out in the porch, with its canopy of cherry branches—he dons the sheet, his toilsome day over, and reads every line of it, from the date to the obscurest advertisement. He delights to get you aside and hold a discussion on politics or articles of religious faith, he can hit you off the character and "record" of the candidates for President in minutest detail; and can give you good, strong, undiluted common sense, in his nasal twang, on whatever subject you may discuss. If you be a stranger, and especially if you have traveled, his curiosity to know all about "forren parts" is insatiable. "How did you find them Polish women?" asked a farmer of us once. "Putty fine women, I guess, especially if you see 'em in a mountaneous kentry?" persuading himself that he had satisfactorily answered his own query. He is, hard working though he be, an earnest politician in a practical way; he goes regularly to "teown meetin';" hitches his horse along the fence at the side of the town hall, gives a rough swoop of his hand over his thick hair, goes in, and in five minutes is on his feet, making a thunder bolt speech about mending Jones' dam, or against paying the bonds in greenbacks.—All the Year Round.

Three little girls were playing with the poppies and sage brush of the back yard. Two of them were making believe keep house, a little way apart, as near neighbors might. At last one of them was overheard saying to the youngest of the lot, "There, now, Nelly, you go over to Sarah's house and stop there a little while and talk as fast as you can, and then you come back and tell me what she says about me, and then I'll talk about her, and then you go and tell her all I say, and then we'll get as mad as hornets, and won't speak when we meet, just as our mothers do, you know; and that'll be such fun—won't it?"

A man from Cheyenne registered himself at a Chicago hotel as from "Shy Ann."

BASE BALL.—The Pioneer Base Ball Club are requested to meet on their grounds at 4 o'clock sharp, for practice. All lovers of the game are invited to attend.

An additional lot of those handsome suits worn by everybody, both heavy and light weight, was received by Kohn & Zubel, No. 91 Front street. They are equal to the best custom-made and pleasing to all men that wear them. They also received an extra fine lot of striped calico shirts and Star white shirts.

Their stock in clothing is the largest and finest in Oregon and sold at extreme low prices.

Human Life.—He who saves a human life or prolongs its days on earth is a public benefactor. Health is life, health is happiness; health makes wealth, health gives a clear intellect, health fathers a noble offspring and peoples up the globe with men and women of God-like physiques. If we would have pure, red, rich, electrical blood—blood that gives tone to the system, the "rose-tint of health" to the cheek—we must keep the stomach laboratory in perfect order. PLANTATION BITTERS will correct prostration, enrich the blood, strengthen and invigorate digestion, arouse a torpid liver, and abate a nervous headache. They will impart tone and circulation to the blood and the whole nervous system.

A newly published pamphlet, containing a report of some of the proceedings at the Theta Delta Chi reunion last winter, throws a little light upon a question of considerable public interest, namely, the fate of the secret archives of the Confederate Government. It has long been understood that the "Rebel Archives" at Washington are really of little value, the most important documents having been carried away by Mr. Davis when Richmond was evacuated, and concealed in some hiding place known only to a few persons. In the course of an oration printed in the pamphlet we refer to, Mr. William L. Stone states that the custodian of the archives was the late Col. Tilghman, Davis's chief of staff. On the morning of the Confederate President's capture, Tilghman pointed out his danger, and suggested a road of escape. Davis replied curtly that he "knew his own business best," so Tilghman went off alone, and "when," continues Mr. Stone, "a few weeks after in the recesses of the forest Tilghman learned that all was lost, he alone, and with his own hands, buried the treasure and archives; and unless, during the four days that elapsed between parting with me and his untoward death, he revealed the spot, the secret as to the whereabouts of the archives is forever buried." We are not so sure, however, about Mr. Stone's conclusion. Mr. Pollard made diligent efforts to obtain a sight of these documents, and though he was always denied the privilege, for the reason that they would seriously compromise living men of good loyal reputation, he assures us in his "Life of Jefferson Davis, written two years after Tilghman's death, that there is more than one still alive who knows where they are hidden. It is by no means impossible that the secrets of these important papers may be divulged even to the present generation.

Why use three words when one will express the same thing? Say "dumpsychoreopologopedalityston," [illegible] "double [illegible]"

Thrice Armed!

Thrice is he armed who keeps within reach of his hand a specific that at one and the same time will strengthen, regulate and purify his system when enfeebled, disordered and corrupted.

Such is the three-fold operation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and hence the great superiority of that standard vegetable restorative over all medicines that are merely tonics and nothing else. The effect of the ordinary astringent tinctures and extracts upon the bowels is disastrous, and upon the depraved blood or bile they produce no beneficial effects whatever. In dyspepsia and liver complaints all the fluids and humors of the body are more or less infected, and the bowels are often badly constipated. An unmodified astringent—quinine for instance—does infinitely more harm than good in such cases. In Hostetter's Bitters, on the other hand, the stimulating and tonic elements are qualified with aperients and antiseptic ingredients. The finest laxatives and blood depurants in the vegetable kingdom are intermixed with those of a purely invigorating nature, and under the operation of this admirable combination, the three important processes of invigoration, regulation and purification go on together. The rapidity with which the disordered organization returns to its natural condition, under a course of the Bitters is due to this cause. Every disturbed function of the body is favorably affected by the various properties of this comprehensive and well balanced preparation. As a general rule the bowels are subject to irregularities, and the fluids liable to become vitiated, and hence the Bitters are especially valuable as an alterative, corrective and invigorant. In all districts where the seeds of intermittent fevers infect the air, the healthful vegetable elixir should be taken as a protective medicine.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities; CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Each package bears the signature of G. VENARD.

320 ACRES OF LAND, IN JACKSON COUNTY, for sale or exchange for city property. It is in the suburbs of Gasburg. Gasburg, like the beaver, is all "terminus." The branch of the Central Pacific Railroad will intersect the Oregon and California road at Gasburg. The Oregon Central will run through it, as does the stage road now, and many a railroad as yet unthought of, will find its "terminus" in Gas-burg. The warm and dry winters, the mild Italian summers, the gushing spring water at short intervals, the lofty peaks of the Cascades on the east, the Coast Range on the west, the broad and fertile valleys on the north and south, and last, but not least, the inexhaustible forests on every hand, make it naturally one of the finest "terminuses" that ever was attached unto the "hither end" of any railroad. Also a one-third interest in a water ditch and forty acres of mining lands, which have been worked for nine years and never failed to pay a dividend. Strawberries 5 cts. per pound, ONE MULE at 20 cts per pound, and groceries in proportion.

EIGHTEEN INDIANS AND SQUAWS CARRIED OVER THE FALLS IN YELLOWSTONE RIVER AND DASHED TO PIECES

A correspondent of the Helena Herald writing from Old Militia Camp on the Yellowstone May 11th says A party composed of Jules Farrar, Pierre Bernard Ike Hedges George Hendes a Crow Indian and the undersigned left this place on the 15th of March for a trip to the almost unknown falls of Yellowstone

On the 2d of April about 10 A M we halted at the base of some foot hills there being some signs of gold, and immediately commenced sinking a hole We had not proceeded long with our work before we were startled by seeing our Crow Indian running rapidly toward us He reported a small band of Indians known as "Sheep eaters" distant about four miles above and in the same canon We felt no great uneasiness however knowing full well that with our improved firearms we would be enabled to overcome fifty of the sneaking red devils

The same morning our pack horses three in number were run off by the "Sheep eaters" We started in pursuit before daylight and the sun was not more than fifteen minutes high when we struck their track From the appearance of the same it was evident that they had at least four hours the start of us Upon questioning our guide we ascertained that the valley we were in and which their trail followed was bordered on both sides by precipitous mountains and there was no possible mode of egress save by the upper end of the valley which opened to the Yellowstone but a short distance above one of the falls

No sooner was this information elicited than away we sped in pursuit After nearly three hours' sharp riding we came upon the band and in such a manner as to cause us some surprise about midway in the stream, where could be seen a hastily constructed raft, composed of drift wood joined together by thongs made of buckskin and buffalo robes Upon this strange craft were seen in the center thirteen braves while five squaws were essaying to paddle the unwieldy craft to the opposite shore with pieces of bark as substitutes for paddles Our pack horses were in the river as were also the Indian ponies Four of the latter reached the opposite shore

This strange sight bursting upon our view rendered us, for the time being incapable of action At a glance we could see that they were gradually going down stream despite the efforts of the squaws, and, although our senses for the moment forsook us, the sharp crack of a rifle and the yell of a "Sheep-eater" told that the equanimity of our crow guide was well preserved At this juncture Pierre Bernard shouted out, "For God's sake boys, don't murder them, they are bound to go over the falls" We looked, and a sight met our gaze which was fearfully impressive

The raft having been caught in the eddy not a vestige of it was to be seen it having sunk several inches below the surface and the Indians seemed to be like so many weird spirits floating on the rushing waters One of the Indians rose and bending his bow, shot our Crow through the arm. The shot was returned and again a yell of pain was heard proceeding from a "Sheep eater" Bernard then told the Crow, in his own dialect, to stop firing, but he paid no attention to the command. Again he raised his rifle, but a lariat skillfully thrown by Pierre, held him fast. The scene now presented was one which those who witnessed will not forget to their dying day

The mid channel in which they were now swiftly gliding down, seemed to be clear of obstructions, while on either side jagged rocks peered out from the foaming water When about fifty yards below where we were standing an old Indian arose and stood erect in the center of a circle of braves He spoke a few words turned his face toward the sun and seemingly bade it farewell then wrapping his robe around him he sat down The squaws immediately flung their pieces of bark into the river, threw themselves on the submerged raft and commenced pulling out their long tresses in the meanwhile screaming and howling more like demons than human beings

Indians seated in the circle shook hands and then commenced wailing their always mournful death-song Nearer they approached the fearful abyss, still not a movement was perceptible on the part of the braves They sat as immovable as statues, and did not quake with fear at the near approach of the King of Terrors As they shot swiftly down the stream our party instinctively raised our hats while looking at them, and I doubt if there was one, except the Crew, who did not show signs of visible emotion

How singular, was it not? Before us were our enemies, who, but a short time ago we would have gladly killed in a fight but now whose near approach to death touches our very hearts with mingled feelings of tenderness sorrow and pity A few moments, and wonderful to state the raft without losing a single piece goes intact with its freight of life over the awful brink and into the mouth of death.

We turn from the spot with indescribable feelings. As we take our last look at the treacherous stream, where eighteen mortals passed from life to death, we discern hovering over the fatal precipice two large eagles, whose screams resound above the noise of the waters. The roar of the cataract and the eagles' screams! what a fit requiem for these departed red children.

Hints to Housekeepers

Onions should be tied in linen bags, and hung in a dry, cool place

Spearmint is good to settle the stomach and for bowel complaints

Eggs should be kept in lime water or salt, with small end down

Save all your suds for the garden It is a great fertilizer for grape vines.

Soft soap should be kept in an out house and not used until six months old

Cranberries should have water kept on them and changed every two weeks

To choose nutmegs, prick them with a pin if the oil comes out they are good

Use whitening or chalk to clean silver if very black wet with alcohol, rub with soft flannel or buckskin

A very little beeswax or soap rubbed on the hinges of your doors to prevent their creaking, and on drawers to make them run easy, is good.

Marble fire-places and oil cloths should not be washed in suds Wipe off the dust then rub with a cloth dipped in oil Buttermilk is good to wash oilcloth

To give a gloss to shirt bosoms and colors add a piece of white wax and spermaceti, each about the size of a pea, to a pint of starch while boiling. Iron until smooth, as friction puts on the gloss

Another: pour boiling water on gum arabic, and when dissolved, put in a bottle, and cork tight When the starch is boiled, add some, and it will give a fine gloss.

Pickles should be kept in a cool place and often looked to, if the vinegar is too strong they will get soft A cloth should be put on top and washed out as the scum rises Put mustard, nasturtions, or horseradish, in to keep them Alum will harden them

Butter is now plentiful and cheap A good housewife might purchase enough for next winter's use. Take spring butter work out the milk add a little pure white sugar and saltpetre, put it up in a sweet keg, cover the top of the butter with fine salt and keep the air from it, and next winter you will have an article much superior to that to be picked up in the stores Try it

Great care should be taken with weakly children not to allow them to begin to walk till their bones have become sufficiently ossified and strong to support the weight of the body without bending Parents are usually anxious to have the baby begin to walk at as early an age as possible and they force it upon its feet before the bones of the legs have become strong enough to support the weight of the body, and they bend under it

The River Amazon

The Amazon rises in the little Peruvian Lake of Lauricocha just below the limits of perpetual snow For 500 miles it flows swiftly through a deep valley Then turning sharply eastward it runs 2,500 miles across the equatorial plain Two thousand miles above its mouth its width is ten miles at the head of the delta where it divides and after running 400 miles presents a front of 150 miles upon the ocean For a great distance it is bordered by side channels or bayous as they are called upon the Mississippi, named by the Indians igarapes or canoe paths" From Santarem the principal town above Para, one may paddle a thousand miles parallel to the river without entering the stream For twenty five degrees of latitude every river that flows down the eastern side of the Andes is an affluent of the Amazon It is as though all the rivers from Mexico to Oregon united their waters in the Mississippi A half score of these tributaries are larger—the Danube excepted—than any European river out of Russia. The volume of its waters is greater than even the breadth of the river would indicate At Nauta, 2 300 miles from its mouth, the depth is 40 feet increasing rapidly as it approaches the ocean The largest ocean steamer could doubtless steam 2 000 miles up the Amazon

The vegetation of the valley is exuberant There is a bewildering diversity of grand and beautiful trees, a wild unconquered race of vegetable giants draped and festooned by creeping plants The moment you land upon the shore you are confronted by a solid wall of vegetation through which if you wish to proceed you must hew your way with axe or [illegible] are not [illegible] constitute the majority of trees Then there are [illegible] a hundred and fifty feet high [illegible] [illegible] and cust ards The [illegible] rubber tree, though of a different species from that of the East Indies produces a gum which constitutes most of the rubber of commerce Agassiz put this tree forty or fifty feet high in the same class with the milkweed of our American pastures Of ornamental woods there is no end Foremost among them is the Mira Pinima or tortoise shell wood the most beautiful in grain or color of any in the world Enough of this is wasted every year, to veneer all the dwellings of the civilized world For many years to come the exports of the Amazon valley must be mainly the products of the forest Yet strangely enough timber is now one of the principal articles of import at Para A city of 30 000 inhabitants, lying on the verge of a great forest buys pine boards from far away Maine! This folly will in time come to an end Contrary to all we may expect, the climate of the Amazon valley is temperate rather than tropical It is more equal than in any other climate of the world Year in and year out it ranges from seventy four to eighty degrees the fair mean being eighty degrees

San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhœa Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness Impotency and Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice, or depraved self indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating disease, symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary Some of the self styled doctors, such as are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths shoemakers newspaper carriers [illegible] or office keepers etc Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes but you will find their former occupation instead Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863 The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets for as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them but you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates pretended patient's letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure

Address DR J F GIBBON 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco Post Office Box 1957

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1957 ON THE LETTER
